

Caring for Our Community

A two-day program to enhance the role, knowledge and practice of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Workers in cancer care, prevention, screening and early detection, and end of life care.

When: 27th and 28th June, 2017
Where: Cancer Council Queensland, Education Centre
43 Upper Dawson Road, Rockhampton

Topics included

- What is cancer?
- End of life, palliative care, death and dying (presented by PEPA)
- Cancer screening, early detection and prevention

Participants

The course is for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people working in the health field. Male and female health workers are encouraged to apply. Participants will need to arrange leave with their employer to attend the course.

Cost

The course is provided at no cost. Applicants are encouraged to apply for a bursary to assist in covering travel and accommodation costs.

Registration

Please complete the registration and bursary form at

<https://cancerqld.org.au/health-professionals/atsi-health-professionals/>

For further information or to register your interest for courses throughout Queensland in 2017 and 2018, please email communitysupportservices@cancerqld.org.au

This project is a Cancer Australia
Supporting people with cancer Grant initiative, funded by the Australian Government