

Palliative care case studies featuring PalAssist

Cancer Council Queensland invites all health professionals to a free information session to hear about PalAssist and how it can support people who have a life limiting illness or condition, and their loved ones. During this interactive session you will hear case studies and have the opportunity to participate in discussion.

During this program you will:

- Learn the role of PalAssist, including referral and access.
- Hear about the palliative care support needs of a woman diagnosed with advanced breast cancer.
- Gain an understanding of the potential palliative care involvement for people with neurological conditions including Motor Neurone Disease and dementia.
